Jane Dorfman

Jane's stories draw from her favorite Celtic, traditional, and mythic sources with a few personal stories and lies thrown in. She has two award winning CDs. Jane was a featured teller at the Glens of Antrim Festival in Ireland. She's told at Speak!, The Women's Storytelling Festival, Alleghany Highlands, the Andersen Statue, NSN Fringe, and Stone Soup. Jane has two award winning CDs

Milbre Burch

Based in Chapel Hill, NC, Milbre Burch is a GRAMMY-nominated spoken word recording artist and an internationally known storyteller. She has released award-winning spoken word recordings on her Kind Crone label. Featured at the National Storytelling Festival nine times since 1984, she has performed at festivals across the US, and in Europe and Asia. <https://www.kindcrone.com>

Mary Wood

Mary Wood lives in Chapin, SC where she teaches Advanced Placement English. In 2023, Mary faced censorship in her classroom when students complained to school board members about being assigned Ta-Nehisi Coates' Between the World and Me. What followed was a firestorm of calls for her termination from parents, legislators, and others. She continues to teach and to push back against censorship.

Sam Pearsall

Sam is a retired ecologist and conservationist and tonight's fourth storyteller and emcee, Sam believes we are all made of stories! Stories are what we remember and dream and how we think of each other. Every story is a whole world. Sam believes that with any good story, the further in you go, the bigger it gets. <https://samstories.org>

About Roadhouse Storytellers: In early 2017, Sam Pearsall founded and has since produced Roadhouse Storytellers, first at the Pittsboro, NC Roadhouse. Counting tonight, Roadhouse Storytellers has put 60 different storytellers from 8 states on stage. We're thrilled and grateful to be telling at Page-Walker tonight.
